SENATOR YEST TALKS PLAINLY.

The Fight Against Gold Monometallism Is Inevitable.

ENGLAND WILL NOT HELP US.

Free Coinage Is the Only Way, and Let Other Nations Follow When They Get Ready.

World's telegraphic poll of the incoming Fifty-fourth Congress on the three lead-ing National issues free silver coinage, bimetallism or gold monometallism; the tariff, and the principle of the income tax, attracted much attention in administration and general political designations. and general political circles, as it fur-nished an instructive forecast of the prob-able lines of legislation next winter, and mished an instructive forecast of the probable lines of legislation next winter, and also of the prominence each issue will have in the next national campaign.

The more conservative Democrats and many Republicans take the ground that a monetary conference is the true solution of bimetallism, even though a solution be thereby delayed for a number of years.

The World's poil disclosed that the Republicans will return to power strongly disposed to remodel certain features of the tariff on more highly protective lines, and Democrats easily foresee the plans they will follow to justify such changes. The Democrats say that not only will Republicans make the aggregate of appropriations higher, but will multiply specific appropriations is the matters of public buildings and river and harbor improvements and the like. This policy will serve two political purposes. If President Cleveland vetoes the special bills the Republicans believe such action will arouse resentment against the Democracy in those regions to which the appropriations would have gone. By placing the aggregate of appropriations beyond the Treasury's power to meet, the Republicans will ofer any currency measures. It is thought the expenses of the government. It is not expected that the Republicans will ofer any currency measures. It is thought they will consider nothing in the line of finance except what Mr. Cleveland proposes in a messesse.

"In have not much confidence in finence."

cept what air. Cleveland proposes in a mes-sage.

"I have not much confidence in interna-tional monetary conferences on the silver question," said Senator Vest of Missouri to-day. "The reason is plain. To be suc-cessful an international conference must secure the support of the great commercial powers, and I see no possibility of Eng-land, the greatest of foreign commercial powers, the great oredator of the world, entering such a conference favorably dis-posed toward silver. The ten billion pounds sterling of debts which she holds is an un-answerable argument, against any action sterling of debts which she holds is an un-answerable argument against any action on the part of Great Britain looking to-wards a lessening of the importance of her gold standard of value. See how England is dominated by her landed and titular aris-tocracy, and her concentrated capital. I re-gard the case as hopeless so far as an in-ternational agreement is concerned. "But the irrepressible conflict is upon us at home. The fight between gold monomet-allism and the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 18 to 1, cannot be averted. I see Senators Sherman and Hill talking about contretest encouragement from all quarters."

Senator Tom Carter of Montana, Chairman of the Republican National Campaign Committee, said:

"It is very gratifying, indeed, to observe the friendly disposition shown abroad towards the proposed international monetary conference. It is very unfortunate that the present administration so thoroughly misrepresented the sentiment of the country as to leave this government occupying an apparently hostile position to the restoration of silver."

Representative Tarsney is now on the Fulda, on his way, to Europe. Before sailing, he said that he was still heartily in favor of an income tax, and to use Judge Harian's expression, "if the Constitution does not permit of such a tax, we must fix the Constitution so that it will."

On the subject of finance, Mr. Tarsney described himself as a bimetallist and emphatically not in favor of a single gold standard. He believed the tariff question should be allowed to rest.

THE WORLD NEEDS US.

Mr. Coudert Says This Country Con-rope. He read the interview with try and Europe. He read the interview with Senator Hill with a great deal of interest; also the interview in which William C. Whitney expressed his views on the silver question. He said:

"If the nations of the world should agree upon a uniform standard, there is no doubt in my mind that it would be the greatest-boon the world of finance has ever received. It strikes me that a ratio of 15½ to 1, 16 to 1, or 26 to 1 would be immaterial as long as the ratio was uniform. It may come to this, however, that the United States will start out slows in the declaration for bimetallism. I am not a political economist, but I have watched the course of events with much interest, and have read and talked with European writers on diagnam.

the fact that unless the European nations soon reached an agreement on the question of adopting a uniform standard, they will have to face the certainty that the United States will do business on a sliver basis. "The Populistic spirit which is abroad throughout the West and South is such that it cannot be ignored, and if the fact becomes evident that the nations of Europe intend to refuse any relief, the storm will break. The result would undoubtedly be financial revolution and loss to the United States, but it would be rain to Europe. They cannot get along without us, while we can get along without them if worst comes to worst; we could build a Chinese will of silver around our country, and the world would be knocking at our doors. I tell you, they are afraid to tempt Providence too long. They are just waking up to this fact, and the prudence of the financiers of England and the continent will force the conclusion that silver must be recognized as a currency or they will be forced to recognize it."

RUSSIA'S POSITION.

She Will Agree to a Bimetallic Stand-ard With the Rest of the World.

special to The Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 3.—M. Deroutkowsky, Financial Agent of Russia on a special mission to the United States, is now in Washington. From him the Post-Dispatch correspondent has obtained an interview in which he said:

"Russia is on a paper basis, the Imperial Bank of Russia having outstanding 1,106,000,000 in paper roubles, against a gold.reserve of $50,000,000 roubles. With the gold roubles reckoned at par at 100 copecks, the paper rouble is worth 65 copecks, and the silver roubles but 45 copecks, the latter, of course, following closely the bullion value of silver. The over-issue of paper roubles began during the Crimean war and reached its greatest extent during the Turko-Russian war of 187. Of the latter issue 266,000 paper roubles have been retired. The paper rouble shows an upward tendency in price, having advanced about 1 per cent in the past year. Its price is, however, regulated by the law of supply and demand, as it is not at present redeemed by the Imperial Bank. It is receivable, however, for all internal expenditures, all customs duties being payable in gold.

"It has been the purpose of the Imperial government for many years to gradually proceed in the direction of restoring specie payments and placing the commerce of the country upon a gold basis. Russia is a gold-producing country to the extent of some $35,000 annually, with the certainty of great increases upon the completion of the Trans-Siberian Railway. But it will agree to a bimetallic standard whenever the rest of the world will do so. In this connection it may be said that silver is used in Russia ont at Springfield: Hon. Treasurer Lc V. Stephens, who is an ardent free silver man, said in an interview:

"I am not surprised at the action of our State Committee, but I am, to say the least, grieved. I had feared from what I had seen coming from the different members of the committee that they were not in sympathy with the silver element of the party, and would do all in their power to prevent agistion and organization along those lines. Ninety per cent of the Democratic newspapers of Missouri are demanding this convention. Forty counties, at least, through their committees and in mass meetings, have called upon the State Committee for the convention, and every day other counties are wheeling into line.

"I am at a loss to understand the motives which actuate the committee in refusing to respect these demands coming from the people. I have been anxious for this convention, because I see very plainly the people want it, and expect it. Where there is any opposition at all it comes from the politicians. In our last State platform we thought we declared for the free and unlimited coinage of silver at 18 to 1. The opposition, however, undertake to place a different construction upon the platform, and of late some of our Missourians (derisively termed cuckoos) have had themselves interviewed in the East to the effect that nobody in Missouri but a few ignorant backwoodsmen were for free silver. These things have conspired to arouse among the backwoodsmen a determination to demonstrate that our party is squarely and unmistakably in favor of free coinage. The determination of our friends will not be weakened, but strengthened by the insolent manner in which our wishes have been ignored by the committee.

"There has for some time, I am pained to note, existed a lack of confidence on the part of our people in the committee, and this refusal to call a convention will arouse a spirit of resentment, and the convention will be called over their heads. I had hoped for the good effect the call would have emanated from the committee which represents

WAYNESVILLE, Mo., June 3.—The Democrats of Pulaski County in mass meeting here adopted the following resolutions:

Whereas, we deplore that the financial condition of the United States is such that the Government is compelled to issue bonds in time of peace solely for the purpose of keeping up the gold reserve while a large amount of coined silver lies useless in the Trasury; and believing that this condition has been brought about by the maintenance of the single gold standard by the virtual demonetization of silver, thereby striking down the money of the constitution and placing the debtor portion of our people at the mercy of the creditor portion and the antire country and nation at the mercy of Mortgage Made at Belleville Payable in Gold at Demand.

A mortgage for $12,000 with the principal and interest payable in gold at the option of the holder, has been recently filed with County Recorder Charles Becker at Belleville, St. Clair County, Illinois. The instrument has been the subject of much comment among the real estate brokers, money lenders and the lawyers of Belleville who draw up mortgages for their clients. It is an unheard of manner of drawing a mortgage in St. Clair County, with the interest and principal payable in gold.

drawing a mortgage in St. Clair County, with the interest and principal payable in gold.

A well known Chicago lawyer who was examining the records in the Recorder's office on Friday, said that in all his experience in loaning money on Illinois lands he had never heard of an instrument being drawn like this gold mortgage. The mortgage will run is x years from May 14, 1856. The holder can use his own discretion in receiving the interest which is payable semi-annually. He has the right to demand that it be paid in gold. If paid in gold the interest will be at the rate of 5½ per cent per year; if in paper or silver money 6 per cent will be charged. Both parties to the instrument are men of prominence and are well known outside of the limits of the State of Illinois.

The $12,000 was borrowed by Hon. George D. Thomas of Bozeman, Mont. He is a Belleville boy, a son of the late Col John Thomas, who died last winter at the age of $6 years. George D. Thomas inherited as a portion of his share of the estate of his father 270 acres of land in the village of Shiloh, near O'Fallon, St. Clair County, Illinois. The land is among the most valuable of the fine farming lands of Southern Illinois. The greater portion of the land is cleared, a very small portion timber land. Its estimated value is over $30 an acre, or about double the amount of the mortgage.

The two prisoners, with the rest of the quarry gang, went to work between 6:30 and 7 o'clock this morning. It is the custom of the prisoners to-use empty powder kegs for seats in preference to sitting on the piles of rock while breaking stone.

"Someone stole Hickey's keg, and, thinking he was a bigger man than me, he undertook to take mine by force. We were struggling for the keg. Each of us had hold of it when he reached out and hit me in the jaw with his fist. He is a heap bigger than me and so I dropped the keg and let him have it with the hammer I had in my hand."

In addition to the fracture where the hammer struck there was a wound on Hickey's right ear, which bled freely. there had been a difficulty until Hickey fell.

Pat Kennedy and Ed Kelleher were the only two prisoners close at hand. They heard the few words which passed when Hickey grabbed the keg. They heard Egan say "give me that keg" when Hickey seized it, then they stood up and almost immediately the fatal blow was struck. Neither Kennedy nor Kelleher could say positively whether Hickey struck the first blow or not, or whether Egan struck him twice with the hammer. They said there was a momentary struggle for the keg, then they saw Egan draw back with the hammer and saw Hickey fall.

The whole thing was over so soon that there was no chance for any excitement among the prisoners. The guards promptly went to the scene and the men who had left their work were sent back except one or two needed to assist in attending to Hickey. Egan gave no trouble, but went willingly to the calaboose.

SURE THINGS AT THE RACES.

When J. B. Thomas of the Third District, J. K. Brown of the Seventh, and the other country members arrived Saturday morn-are in the city the sentiment that the State Committee had made a giaring blunder was unanimous. Adit. Gen. Wickham, speaking of the matter at the Planters' said: "The committee made a mistake. There is no doubt of that. They made a mistake because an overwhelming majority of the Democrats in the State demanded a convention. This is evident. I believe there will be a convention anyway, and it would be the part of wisdom for the committee, when the majority of the counties have expressed themselves, to meet again and call a convention."

A. R. Byrd, President of the Cape Milling Company of Jackson, Cape Girardeau County, said that the feeling in his district was practically unanimous. "The people are all one way," he continued, "and the State Committee made a mistake, to say the least. It should have called a convention. The result is bound to be unfortunate. Outside of the strong desire for a pronounced expression, through a State gathering of the Democracy, on silver, there is a natural tendency among the people to want what they think is being withheld from them, and the refusal of the committee will only make the Democracy of the State more determined. It may drive them to extremes to which they otherwas would not have gone. I believe a State convention outside of the committee is inevitable, but I hope that nothing radical will be done." Mr. J. J. Nelson of Webb City was emphatic in his opinion that the State committee had utterly disregarded the wishes of the party. "There is only one way the Democrats can win in this State, and that is coming out, and coming out early, for free silver at the ratio of is to I. Talk about what the people want. Why, in our town we had an election for City Attorney and School Directors a couple of months ago. We nominated our candidates on a free silver patform, and while we had been beaten the previous election, we elected the ticket. Some of the conservatives insisted that free, silver had nothing to do with the school board. We told them that was all right, but were going

I would like to ask these been disregarded as a son, and, in a measure, disenherited. I would like to ask these parents the definition of "parental love." If it means to disinherit one's children and disregard them as their offsprins, then Webster or Worcester have no doubt given the definition erroneously, and a new dictionary is in order. They say that a mother's love is unceasing. If it is unceasing I am at a loss to understand why I have been treated thus, as to-day a stranger is enjoying the love of my mother which belongs to me. I am fully aware that I have always been the Joseph of the family, and some day they will be glad to recognise their son. If I was leading a corrupt life it would be different, but I have always endeavored to lead an honest and upright life, and am not guilty of any svil which would justify this action.

She cannot claim any closer relationship, and my father has uttered that if he saw me leading the life of a pauper he would not assist me. If this is Christianity I do not want to have anything to do with it, and if they can go to the church of their faith and partake of the Lord's Supper with such a heart I do not see how it can benefit them. Mrs. Virginia Harrison Castleman died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Dr. William Webb, 3523 Olive street, at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, in the eighty-eighth year of her age. Her death was the result of a partial stroke of paralysis which came on two months ago and left her in a helpless condition. Before that time Mrs. Castleman had been strong and vigorous, but the stroke brought a partial loss of mind and sight. The recent warm weather and her extreme age caused her to fail rapidly within the past few days and resulted in her death Sunday. Mrs. Webb was born July 4, 1806, in Mount Athos, near Lynchburg, Virginia. Her maiden name was Virginia Harrison. She married David Castleman of Lexington, Kentucky, in March, 1827. A few years later they moved to the family farm, Castleton, which was noted all over the country for its hospitality and elegance. Mr. Castleman died May 23, 1852, leaving his wife will eleven children. Mrs. Castleman then moved to her beautiful home, Refuge, about two miles outside of Lexington, where she lived until after the war. Ten years ago she came to St. Louis and lived with her only unmarried son, Judge George A. Castleman. She then went to live with her son-in-law, Dr. Webb, where she remained up to the time of her death. Mrs. Castleman of Kentucky; Humphreys Castleman of Georgia; Mrs. George B. At this McClellan remarked that railway men employed by the Lindell were very uncivil. Without any warning, he says, Pruits struck at him. He dodged the blow and Pruitt followed it up with another pass, McClellan says that eight or nine conductors who were near by ran at him and he was obliged to draw his revolver in self-defense. He says he shoved it in Pruitt's face to keep the latter from rushing into him, but claims he did not pull the trigger.

(Copyright 1895 by the Press Pub. Co.) LONDON, June 3.—It is an interesting LONDON, June 2.—It is an interesting coincidence that four of the great powers in Tammany Hall politics a year ago find themselves together by chance in London to-day and not less interesting is the fact that two of the four don't speak to their former chief. Mr. Purroy was in Piccadilly yesterday, Bourke Cockran is temporarily in London, Mayor Grant and bride are at Long's Hotel, and Mr. Croker is already occupying his new house in the Palace Gate. Mr. Purroy and Mr. Cockran did not seek Mr. Croker. Ex-Mayor Grant said to-night that he had only met him twice casually, and they did not talk politics.

"In fact," said he, "there is no politics at home now to talk about, at least locally. We are still waiting eventualities. As for myself, I stand by my interview in the World, a few weeks ago, while it indorsed editorially, suggesting fifty representative Democrats should be admitted to Tammany Hall, and should by their counsel and efforts centrol its policy."
"But," I asked, "do you believe Mr. Croker would permit that?"
"I do," said the ex-Mayor and ex-Excise Commissioner.

"American priests," said he, "would be delighted to help the French Church to shake off its oid errors and its sloth. Instead of prayer and waiting in the obscure silence of the temple, the French clergy ought to organise a serious propaganda amongst the people. The sound of belis is no longer sufficient to draw people to church in France. The clergy is earnest, learned and plous, butit is timid. There is, however, no place for timid people in the world nowadays. Friests must be hardy and valiant. SHANGHAI, June 3.—Intelligence has been received here that between May 29 and 31 the French Catholic, English and American missionary property at Ching Too, capital of the Province of Szechuen, Western China, of the Province of Szechuen, Western China, was destroyed by rioters. The missionaries are reported to be safe. The Province of Szechuen has been termed the "Texas of China." Ching Too, or Chentu, is the capital city. It is situated in the midst of a broad, fertile plain, and is the great center for the whole province as well as the numerous outlying cities and villages. Ching Too has been spoken of by many foreigners as the finest Chinese city they have visited. The missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal Church was the first missionary body to buy property at Ching Too, and there was more or less opposition to the missionaries upon the part of the natives.

SBARCH FOR SURVIVORS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 3.-An Examiner special from the City of Mexico says rescuing parties are still in search of survivors of the Colima disaster.

says rescuing parties are still in search of survivors of the Colima disaster.

Land parties, mounted and foot, are operating in the vicinity of Ixtoanuacan, Laruata, Zacatula, and as far south as Nuevos, while the people all along the coast of Acapulco have information of the disaster and have been asked to take particular care to patrol the beach wherever possible.

Not only are the sea and coast lines to be rigidly scoured, but other parties are operating on horseback as far inland as ten miles in hopes of encountering more of the still living, who may have found shelter in some of the small Indian villages. It is believed by many that a number of the passengers, mad from their terrible experiences and the keen bereavements on reaching land, have gone wandering about. As many of the passengers were unable to speak Spanish, they could not make known their position, and therefore would be helpless among these simple but kindly Indians along the coast country.

It will not be strange if some inland rescues are made in the early part of the present week. Survivors who have reached Manzanillo say that Capt. Pitts of the steamship San Juan should have cruised at least two days longer on the discovery of the wreck, and believe that a good many others could have been picked up that since have perished. There are hopes that others may have reached shore at Point San Telmo.

others may have reached shore at Point San Telmo.

The steamer Mazzilan returned to Manzanillo from the wreck yesterday. May 31 she discovered a party of survivors on the beach from the second life raft, and sent a boat to bring them off. It was capsized in the sea in the high surf. The men are supposed to have reached shore. The wire is down between here and Coahuayono, and a man has been sent on horseback sixty miles down the beach for news.

The first raft survivors report seeing a woman's head, with long, black hair, ashore. The body had been cut off by floating wreckage or eaten by sharks. The steamers Romero, Rubise and Barracouta are still searching for survivors. If any more are found they will be brought to Manzanillo or taken to Acapulco.

The Court therefore refused the injunction prayed for.

These travelers were met by 500 fellow-countrymen living in Chicago, headed by a band and with banners of the country man and the polar star as their guide, was snded. Their luggage consisted of a bundle of papers and certificates numbering 2,000, attesting to the genuineness of the tramp they claimed to have made. ST. PAUL, Minn., June 2.—A rainstorm which almost reached the size of a waterspout, swept over a half-dozen counties of Eastern Minnesota Sunday night. It was followed by hall, which is said to have done great damage to grain and vegetables. All the buildings at the Fair Grounds, at Zumbrota, were blown down; C. O. Berg suffered a heavy loss; E. T. Haibert's mill was unroofed, and the Standard Oil Co.'s house was torn to pieces and a church was lifted from its foundation. A team, driver and wagon were literally picked up and blown over a wire fence and into the creek, but the man escaped injury. Trees were uprooted all over the town.

Tracks and Bridges Washed Away. DENVER, Colo., June 3.—Heavy rains broughout Eastern Colorado and rapid melting of snow in the mountains are making the creeks and rivers boom and eausing much uneasiness among railroad managers. A bridge was also reported washed away on the Kansas-Pacific branch of the Union Pacific, near Oakley, 270 miles east of Denver.

Clear Creek has risen to an alarming extent, causing a suspension of work on the placers. Crops throughout Eastern Colorado have been considerably damaged by cloudbursts and hall.

TALLY HO, Pa., June 3.-Yesterday afterroad. A force of men fought the flames until night and had them under control this morning, when a brisk wind began to blow and fanned them into new life. The blaze rapidly spread and advanced with great swiftness toward Tally Ho. A large house owned and occupied by Sid Hathaway stood in the track of the flames and was destroyed. For a time it was feared that the village was doomed, but late in the afternoon the wind stopped blowing and after working until almost exhausted the men succeeded in checking the flames. E. K. Kane was the heaviest loser. Thousamds of feet of logs and considerable valuable timber owned by him were destroyed. Her condition was horrible and she is now under the charge of two physicians. She is cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Wheat, who propose to adopt her. The wheat crop will not be large, while in many sections the oat crop will be one-third less than on former years.

LACK OF CONFIDENCE.

In an interview on Saturday night's action of the State Democratic Committee, State Treasurer Stephens says: "There has for some time, I am pained to note, existed a lack of confidence on the part of our people for the State Committee."

This is an extremely mild statement of a self-evident truth. A large proportion of the Democrats of Missouri not only lack confidence in the committee, but they believe it to be an incubus upon the party that must be gotten rid of before there can be a revival of party spirit. They believe it to be controlled by influences that, so far as they dare, use the committee's power to thwart and | ing that "vice Barker" was one of those defeat the wishes and purposes of the party it is supposed to represent.

And there is good reason for this feeling. The committee itself, by its action Saturday, demonstrated the truth of the charge that it is totally out of sympathy with the rank and file of the Demoof the State. The evidence before it was conclusive that the party desires a State Convention this summer, to voice its views on the currency question. No men in the State are better aware of this fact than the members of the committee themselves. Their contemptuous treatment of the respectful request made to them by party representatives who stand much closer to the rank and file of the party than they themselves do, was inspired by influences hostile to Missour Democracy, its aims and purposes, and determined to baffle them if the committee can accomplish it.

of the committee is to be found in the history of Missouri politics during the last few years. When the men who now control the committee took charge of it, the Missouri Democrats had a tremen dous and apparently irresistible majority in the State. Under the committee's leadership, this majority dwindled until at last election Missouri's supposedly triumphant Democracy met with a crush-

It would be well for men whose leadership has resulted in such disaster to try for a while the more modest role of fol lowing the party's demands.

The franchise granted this company by the last Municipal Assembly and approved by the Mayor represented unpardonable subserviency to the corporation. It permitted a switching charge of $1.50 per car, 50 cents more than the charter limit. That was bad enough for the community, but it was not good enough for the company. It rejected the bill and demanded the privilege of extorting $2 per car from shippers.

But the Council will fail of its duty if it merely insists that franchise grants to the Terminal Railway Co. shall be in harmony with the charter. It should refuse to grant any additional franchise to the company until it complies with its charter and the laws. In view of the proof that the company is a member of ar illegal and oppressive combine to loot St. Louis commerce, and of the proceedings to forfelt its charter the company is not a fit object of municipal

"VICE BARKER."

In the very interesting article in the Sunday Post-Dispatch, giving the name and occupations of the members of the Democratic State Central Committee, appeared the following cabalistic words: "Harvey W. Salmon, Member the Sixth District, Vice Barker, Clinton,

No doubt many brains in Missouri are weary to-day after wrestling for twentyfour hours with that mysterious announcement. What it means, what it was intended for, what was being driven at by the writer or the versatile printer, are a few of the questions suggested by this entry in the list, but which no man not in the secret can satisfactorily answer. As the Post-Dispatch is alone in a position to solve the problem, it feels it to be its duty to relieve the suffering of sly jokes that are often perpetrated by the intelligent compositor, and of which the public is deprived only by the alert watchfulness of the proofreader. But for the proofreader bits of humor would be scattered promiscuously down newspaper columns that would prove the despair of the professional jokers. This is one of them that escaped his vigilance As originally written, the words "vice Barker" were "rich banker," but this commonplace description was entirely too prosaic for the compositor on a hot night. He realized that to describe Mr. Harvey W. Salmon as a rich banker would contribute nothing to the gayety of nations, whereas to substitute for this common-placeness the words "vice Barker" would furnish Mr. Salmon and his friends with something to perspire over for at least

Were it not that Mr. Salmon has placed nimself definitely in the list of candidates for the Governorship, the Post Dispatch would be inclined to leave the esteemed compositor in the enjoyment of his joke; but it perceives the cruelty and injustice of hiding the individuality of a gubernatorial candmate behind such words as "vice Barker." Under these circumstances, it feels that it must insist upon its original proposition that Mr. Salmon is a rich banker, quite able to pay the freight. He can stand before the public on his own individuality (especially as he voted for a State convention) without masquerading as "vice Barker or vice anybody else.

THE COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS.

When President John A. Lee of the Travelers' Protective Association in a recent address extolled the influence of he commercial travelers as a great force in civilization and progress, it is doubtpromoting the growth of the associa-tion, realized what strength of organization and concentration the commercial traveler would acquire.

The meeting of the association at San Antonio will prove a revelation to the general public. Within two years after the founding of the National Association the membership of the organization has grown from 3,945 to 10,600, with subordinate organizations in thirty-two States and ninety-eight large the record of this growth and of re-markable success in business manage ment. It shows also the beginning of th work the association can do, and is des-tined to do in securing better facilities for travel and trade in this country, and sound commercial and transportation laws. It has already secured an impormerce law in the interest of interstate trade. When one considers that this magnifi-cent organization is composed of men who learn by daily experience the needs of trade and transportation, who discover the weaknesses of our tra n and trade system, and whose who object is to promote commerce. Its notentialities for good may be realized. The commercial traveler is a missionary of civilization and commerce in new communities, an inspector general of facilities for busidess intercourse, a personal link between all sections of the country. His interests make him a powerful factor for order, peace, progress and prosperity.

No better selection of the place to hold on than one of the chief cities of Texas could have been found. The commercial travelers are at home in Texas, whose narvellous growth is intimately nected with the remarkable increase of the T. P. A. There is a strong bond of sympathy between the two.

Elect a New State Committee. o the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The Chairman of the State Central Committee of the Democratic party has finally called together the committee, and it has called together the committee, and it has refused to do the party's will. Now let a general convention be called and a new committee elected. There are two reasons for this: One, the committee as now constituted does not really and truly represent the party, and the second, that in the conduct of the last election it has shown itself absolutely incompetent for any purpose. Again, as a corollary to the proposition, within less than twelve months the canvass for the next election will be fully under way and the committee should be fully organized.

and equipped for the work. Again, the com-mittee now selected should hold over until 1898, so that the State may be fully and completely organized.

Take the lead in this and let us get the State in line for splendid work next year. St. Louis, June 1. Want Honest Election Commissioners To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Thanks to your persistent efforts, Missouri is soon to enjoy the benefit of an election bill which will insure to each voter the constitutional guarantee that his vote will be counted as cast, and not as in the past manipulated so as to suit the caprices of a crowd of infamous scoundrels who re-turned as elected whosever they saw ft, irrespective of the size of the majorities which may have been actually cast against them. them.

As this marks a new departure in the politics of Missouri it may not be inappropriate for you to follow up this by urging upon our most worthy Governor the necessity and propriety of emphasising this new era by the appointment of men for the following the commissions of the property of the period while Demonstrates and the period while Demonstrates are the period while Demonstrates.

Election Commissioners who while Democrats, are also gentlemen, men of education, refinement and integrity, not one of those who in the past fifteen years have ridden the Democratic party to its death, dragged its principles into the dust, and gotten rich at the expense of its life blood. I am actuated to make this suggestion because not long since I saw in one at our laily papers the names of a number of men the are applicants for these positions, and the majority of whom were hand-and-glove of the papers in the past way and the crowd who have manimulated. the majority of whom were hand-and-slove with the crowd who have manipulated our elections in the past until our grand old party in Missouri has become a steech in the nostrils of the better element; men who by their actions in prostituting the principles of the party to serve their selfish ends, have forced the better element of our community who would otherwise be Democratic, to vote with the opposition in local affairs simply for a change. This should not and would not be so, if the Governor would appoint men who have not been mixed up in any wise with the crowd who have been running things up to the present date. present date.

and the appointment of Most Rev. John J. Kair., Archbishop of Oxyrinchus, "in partibus infidelium," as the new Archbishop of St. Louis was publicly read during the solemn Pentecostal services at the Cathedral Sunday morning by Vicar General Muchlesians.

Archbishop Kain's pallium will not arrive store another month, perhaps later. It may ot be conferred upon him until after Archishop Kenrick's death if that event ocurs shortly. But it may have to be done uring the life of the Archbishop, for until has been placed upon the shoulders of it new incumbent he cannot perform the cred duties pertaining to his exalted of-

Archbishop Kenrick's future is not yet determined upon. In all probability he will be removed from the Archiepiscopal residence presented to him at the time of his golden jubilee. If he ever comprehends that Rome has relieved him of his authority he will gladly retire to any of the asylums conducted by the sisterhoods of his Church. He has often expressed the desire to get away from the cares of his office and spend the remainder of his life in seclusion. But that was before his intellect began to waver. The retirement of an Archbishop is not an unusual occurrence of the Roman Catholic Church. The eccleciastical discipline is as rigorous as that of a well organized army. When a commander shows unfitness or incapacity for duty he is removed to make way for one that can properly fill his place.

archbishop Kain was forced to appeal for help to Rome.

As a result of the petition the propaganda commissioned Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia, the man who, most of all others, knew the old Archbishop, and shared his affection, to come to St. Louis and report on his mental condition.

The Archbishop of Philadelphia came here one month ago and tried by every means in his power to get his venerable superior to so adjust his affairs that his retirement could be avoided. But the old Archbishop was stuborn. He refused to make a will, or to transfer his trusteeship of church property to his successor. There was nothing for Archbishop Ryan to do but report to Rome that the Archbishop was unfit to conduct the affairs of the diocese.

The Propaganda were not long in acting. But Archbishop Kain, fearful lest the hot weather would carry off the old Archbishop before Rome acted and leave the affairs of the diocese. in a precarious condition, filed the local legal proceedings to remove the Archbishop from the trusteeship of church property.

These proceedings will now in all probability lapie, as there is no further necessity for pushing them. The proceedings had hardly been filed when Archbishop Kain received word from Rome that his superior had been deposed and he was the rew Archbishop of St. Louis.

But he kept his peace and none about him knew of the startling change in affairs until yesterday's solemn Pentecostal services at the Cathesia.

Archbishop Kain was pontificating and Bishop Keane of Kashington, D. C., was in the sanctuary. When the time for Papal benediction came Vicar-General Muchisepen advanced to the citar rail and read the authority from the Pontiff. In the document the celebrant of the mass was referred to as the Archbishop of St. Louis. The point escaped the congregation, but not the churchmen in the sanctuary. Here he met Bishop Rosall of St. Louis, who was in search of a Coadjutor, and he took the young ecclesiastic, whom he knew by reputation.

On Nov. 18, 1841, he was consecrated Bishop of Drosa and Coadjutor to the Bishop of St. Louis in the Pro-Cathedral of Baltimore. In 1847 St. Louis was erected into an archdiocese and Bishop Kenrick became first incumbent. In November, 1891, Archbishop Kenrick celebrated the golden jublies of his episcopate. The excitement incident to the cremony was too much for the aged prelate and joined to the subsequent bitter agitation for the appointment of a Coadjutor, which he opposed strenuously, his once giant intellect gave way and he has lived the life of a child, praying and dreaming over the great events of his past career.

A late conception, which rivals the home-made dressing table in popular favor, is the bodice box. It is made of a shoe box, papered inside and covered with cretonne tacked on over cotton batting. Hinges are placed on the cover, and the box proper has a box plaiting of the cretonne. The igside is almost lined with cheesecloth sachets, holding the violet and heliotrope powders. In this box are laid the dainty bodices, and they are thus perfumed with a subtle re-finement that is irresistible.

When the summer he or Sunday comes with sweltering, weather the list will be lengthened at he week the columns of the newspape will mark the last outing of so many rk-worn pleasure seekers.

The fatalities reported to-day are as follows:

SAUCIER LYNCH DROWNED. Unfortunate Outcome of a Pleasure

Trip to Clifton Terrace. J. B. Saucier Lynch, youngest son of George N. Lynch, the undertaker. was drowned while bathing in the Mississippi River at Alton Sunday afternoon. He had gone with a party of friends Saturday night to attend the opening of Clifton Terram. Sunday afternoon the party hired two skiffs and went rowing. Lynch jumped in for a swin, but the sudden change in temperature was too much for him and he sank immediately. He has just recovered from a spell of typhoid fever and inflammatory rheumatism and this is supposed to account for his sudden weakness in the water. His companions did all they could to assist him, but as the body never rose to the surface his death was inevitable. The body was recovered late in the afternoon.

"Soce" Lynch was a genial, whole-souled young fellow, popular in railroad and social circles. He was 25 years old and a graduate of the St. Louis University. He had been a railroad clerk since leaving college and only within a few months was made chief advertising clerk of the Baltimore & Ohio. His brother, Tom Lynch, is chief passenger J. B. Notwithstanding the fact that this marriage between Lewis H. Rumsey and Julia Elston was consummated in 1878 or 1879, and that therefore the statute of limitations has run against the charge of bigamy, Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson stated Monday that he would issue a warrant for bigamy against Lewis H. Rumsey, provided it was established to his satisfaction by Thomas Bates Rumsey, the supposed son, that the former had not secured a divorce from Mrs. Rumsey of New York. "The young fellow applied to me for a warrant last Wednesday," said Mr. Johnson. "He showed me the documents he has, but had nothing to show that no divorce had been had. A. divorce might have been secured by publication by his father, and he and his mother not have known anything about it. I told him to look up the records and see if any divorce had been granted here, and he went to Mr. Estep, who is nowhandling the case for him."

Lewis H. Rumsey has written a long letter to the Post-Dispatch, in which he enters an indignant denial, all and several, of the charges brought against him by his son, and declares that the publication by the young man is part of a plan of blackmail, or an attempt to drive him out of town before the divorce suit comes to trial. But he will not submit to the consummation of either design. He also claims to possess information that would be ample grounds for a counter petition for divorce against his wife. He alleges that financial reverses are at the bottom of their troubles.

H. Balley & Co., realty dealers. A lot having a frontage of 75 feet with a depth of 107 feet was sold from A. S. Matter to Attorney Nathan Frank.

The price paid by the purchaser was $30,-600. Mr. Frank is a man who moves along with the times, and in making the deal he figured upon the rapid development of West Olive street as a business thoroughfare. The property he purchased includes two dwellings. In taking hold of it he assumed mortgages to the extent of $50,000. The figure at which the property was transferred is considered very low. Just what Mr. Frank intends doing with this purchase is not known at the present time.

The sale caused considerable comment on the street. Mr. Balley has closed several big Olive street deals lately, and to him may be laid the credit of the revival in property on that thoroughfars. It is said that he has another big deal pending.

Significant Statement in a Venezuelan Official Report.

NEW YORK, June &-Important officia news regarding the controversy between England and Venezuela has just been nade public here through the Venezuelan reliow book. It contains full details of the venezuean attitude toward England's movements in the Guayanas.

Referring to the boundary controversy, it first calls attention to the fact that the Congress of the United States has done its utmost to bring the question to arbitration; in fact, it has even gone so far as to request England to settle the dispute in this way. It also states that the press of Venezuela and all English corporations doing business there have also endeavored to bring about the same end. Even the Pope has interested himself in the controversy and offered his friendly services.

Other important steps taken by the Venezuelan Government were its efforts to prevent the circulation of incorrect maps of the country, and a request to the Washington Government that the international office would make such changes in the maps published by England as would do justice to the rights of Venezuela.

The report closes with these significant words: "After having explained all the measures taken by the present government in this important matter from the day of its inauguration, the English have not advanced one step into the territory of the Republic, and it is impossible for them to do so without having a collision with the Venezuelan authorities."

When the boat tied up at the wharf yesterday the roustabouts told a story of the mate shooting a man during the up trip. The victim's name could not be learned. According to the story told on the Levee he was a waiter. The mate missed him from his post of duty and found him asleep upstairs. He cuffed him and a scuffle ensued, the pair falling down a flight of stairs. The mate then pulled his gun, it is alleged, and snot at the fellow. The roustabouts say they saw the man limp off the boat above Cape Girardeau on the Ilinois shore, holding his hand to his right side. limp off the boat above Cape Girardeau on the Ilinois shore, holding his hand to his right side.

The mate of the Mary Morton is Charles Botsai, and he has several times been arrested for assaulting deck hands. Last summer he killed a negro on the Levee and was acquitted.

Capt. Taylor of the Mary Morton denied emphatically that there had been any shooting on board the boat during her trip, and called Capt. Tetrick of Cape Girardeau up to bear him out. Capt. Tetrick started to say that the shooting was done by a drunken countryman who had got on at Cape Girardeau and was put off for firing his revolver indiscriminately. A wink from Capt. Tetrick shut off any further disclosures.

Matthew McDonough and His Wife Wil

Live Together. Matthew McDonough read Sunday's Post-Dispatch, and then went back to support his wife. Mrs. McDonough arrived in St. his wife. Mrs. McDonough arrived in St. Louis from New York city Saturday morning in search of her husband, who had left her about six weeks ago. She found him and he promised to live with her again. Saturday afternoon he changed his mind, and while walking with his wife on Fourth and Pine streets ran away from her. She notified the police and then went to stop at McDonough's former rooming place, 2715 Pakin street. Sunday McDonough saw an account of his doings in the Post-Dispatch and concluded that he was in the wrong. Accordingly Sunday afternoon he returned to his wife and now all is peace and happiness. A Post-Dispatch reporter called at 2715 Pakin street Monday. Mrs. McDonough came to the door, and in answer to a query replied that her husband had returned. About this time a man answering McDonough's description came in and closed the interview by declaring that all was peace and he wanted no further notoriety.

TAKES UP ELECTION FRAUDS

Grand-Jury Investigating the Crookedness Exposed by the Post-Dispatch.

The Grand-jury Monday took up the investigation of the election frauds perpetrated at the recent city election. Fifteen witnesses were subpoensed and several cases were taken up. With the evidence published in the Post-Dispatch in a series of exposes of the crooked election methods practiced in St. Louis and that of numerous witnesses whose names and addresses were given a number of indictments will probably be found.

It is said that Ed Wolf, a confessed repeater, who worked with the Indian gang in the First Ward will be indicted. He skipped out and is supposed to be working near Cape Girardeau. Because of Wolfe's disappearance the cases against several of the worst election crooks in town had to be dismissed, he being the principal witness against them.

Gov. Stone Approves the Election Re-Officers of the United Elevator Co. The City Hall Is Not Sought by Real form Law Recently Passed. Under Sharp Scrutiny. Estate Investors.

watching the amairs of the United States Elevator Company.

A prominent business man interested in elevator stock said Monday: "It is true that Messrs. Samuel and Slack might have handled the affairs of their company to better advantage, but in my opinion the directors of the company deserve blame as well. These directors are Charles Orthwein, Thomas Francis, Redmond Cleary, Nathan Cole, Hugh Rogers, J. B. M. Kehlor, H. S. Potter, David Block, R. P. Tansey, S. E. Hoffman and John Wahl. Two-thirds of them are directors in banks or trust companies, and I venture to say that they would not permit the books and cash of those institutions to go five years without examination, or for one year or six months. They are all, with a few exceptions, at the head-of large firms, and it seems altogether improbable to me that they would permit their own affairs to go uninspected for any length of time. Yet here is an institution in which the public are stockholders, in which hundreds of individuals have invested their savings, depending on the high standing of the men in charge to protect their interests. That this has not been done I am convinced. Each director receives $2 for every board meeting that he attends, yet I am credibly informed that some of the directors do not attend meetings at all, but have permitted a clique of grain speculators to handle, according to their own sweet will, the affairs of a company whose capitalization is $2,889.

The next bid opened was one from the attend meetings at all, but have permitted a clique of grain speculators to handle, according to their own sweet will, the affairs of a company whose capitalization is $2,880,000, with a bonded indebtedness of $1,200,000, "These directors are the trustees of the public, responsible for the safe handling of the public's money, yet some one or more of them have stepped in when a shortage was discovered and sold their stock right and left, breaking the market and depreciating the value of the property.

"The fact that the directors are nearly all grain men gives rise to the suspicion that they know more than they will tell about the inner facts of the present trouble. "I fail to understand, for instance, why the weighing up of the St. Louis Elevator is held back so long. It is just as easy to finish that elevator as the others.

"I say that justice to themselves and to the stockholders demands there should be a meeting held at once of the directors at which good business men among the stockholders shall be permitted to look into the affairs of the company and advise with the directors regarding the officers who are to handle the affairs of the company in future. A few grain speculators must not be allowed to settle this affair, as there are too many interested who are suspicious of the reports flying about. To me it looks like a case of directors who do not direct."

President Samuel expressed the opinion that nothing of importance would be done at the meeting Monday afternoon, as the weighing up of the contents of the St. Louis Elevator could not be finished for some time. He explained the delay as being due to the large quantity of grain to be handled through one or two spouts. "The statement published in Sunday's papers," he said, "that the grain in the St. Louis is of low grade is positively untrue. It is as good wheat as any in the United States."

Charles W. Isaacs, cashier of the St. Louis National Bank, was asked if he would accept the presidency of the elevator company. "The position has never been direct money." "Will you require the indorsement of the individual directors?" "I would not refuse them if offered, but I shall certainly not require them. The credit of the elevator company is all right," mortar at the southwest corner of El and Chestnut streets, which has for been known as the City Hall, was tised for sale some time ago, but it seems that nobody wants the old ruin. In addition, the property across the alley west, on which Louis Bohle's livery stable stands, was advertised for sale by the city. Bids were to be offered and to-day at high noon they were to be opened in the Mayor's office and the highest bidder was to get the property.

be secured by a deed of trust. This was the last and the highest bild for the Lewis street property.

The next bild opened was one from the Anderson-Wade Realty Co. for the property on which Boble's livery stable is located, the sum offered being $56,50$. This lot has a frontage of 141 feet on Market street and the same on Chestnut street, with a depth of 266 feet along the alley west of the City Hall. The terms offered are one-third cash, the balante to be paid in one and two years, interest at 5 per cent, with interest and notes secured by deed of trust. Mr. Bohle has a lease on the property, with seven years to run.

The Anderson-Wade Realty Co. will secure both the Lewis street property and the livery stable property if their bilds are approved by the City Council. Festus J. Wade, who made the bild, said that if it was accepted he would then give the names of the parties for whom his company is bidding. He would not say what clients intended to do with the property on Chestnut street if they secured it.

This ended the bidding, with not a single bid having been made for the City Hall. Mayor Walbridge seemed to be surprised that no bid for the City Hall had been made. In reply to questions he said that the sale of the City Hall was in the hands of himself and the City Comptroller. They could either advertise for sealed bids again or offer the property for sale at public auction. The Mayor said that he and Comptroller Sturgeon would not for some time determine what course to pursue.

The petition of Vogelsang and Gardner charged that George P. Heckel and P. J. Randolph had entered into collusion with Jesse T. Baker and the St. Louis National Bank to defraud the creditors and stockholders of the old Heckel Hardware Company. A bill of sale had been given to Jesse T. Baker, and it was claimed that he was a tool of the bank; that after the Randolph-Heckel Hardware Company had been organized the bank turned over to Heckel and Randolph the stock of the old company.

The defense made by Mr. Heckel and Mr.

assumed and paid all the debts of the old company, and that Vogelsang and Gardner were present at the time the bill of sale was made and agreed to it, and that no objection was made until Baker had been in control for seven weeks.

the City Council, is President of the Randolph-Heckel Hardware Company. It has

The case is not one that can be taken to the Supreme Court, and all that now remains between the despoiler of J. F. Coyle's home and the six months in the Work-house and $500 fine assessed against him is the Court of Appeals and the law's delay.

Chandler was not present, nor represented by his attorney, when the decision was announced. Ford Smith, attorney for Coyle, and Thomas B. Harvey, of the prosecution, were in court.

Young Wickes and Miss Nelson Will Not Wed Until June 11. Not Wed Until June 11.

The interesting announcement comes from Kansas City that the marriage license procured here so prematurely several weeks ago by young Thomas Wickes and Miss Nana Nelson of Kansas City, will not be used until June 11. The reason given out for the change of date is said to be to spite the newspapers for their cleverness in announcing the date first set upon by the Nelson family. As the young people have the license all right and are anxious to wed they will probably do so on the date mentioned or previous thereto, if their hardhearted elders will let them.

Wright said he had accomplished what he went for.

He reported business good and said he had disposed of the cigar bonds and warranty deeds to rest estate he had taken there to exchange for Missouri property and cash. He also stated so Prof. Warner said, that he would be back here in a few days.

Mrs. Dates, a comely young woman who has had some dealings with the firm, and who is thought to be a friend of Wright, told Prof. Warner she had also heard from the missing man. In his letter to Mrs. Dates Wright stated he woult reach St. Louis in about four days. It was also written in Denver. Neither of these letters were seen by the reporter.

Although Wright left the city under what Prof. Warner considered suspicious circumstances with $200,000 in he possession, half of which is the property of Warner, the latter has implicit confiduce in Wright's statement that he will return. Wright had nearly all of Prof. Warner's hard earned savings for fifteen years in his possession when he left according to Prof. Warner, but the professor believes he will come back and bring both bag and boodle with him.

Both of these tracks will be worthless without a foreign book and just at present it would appear as though neither will ever again be open to the St. Louis public.

The superiority of the Eastern clubs in playing strength was conceded last year, and it will be demonstrated as conclusively this season. When a team is away from home it has many disadvantages to contend with. There is the constant traveling, the lack of daily morning practice on the field, the change of water and diet and the umpiring. Almost all the close decisions are given to the home club. In many cities rank partizanship is the rule and in some places the bleachers make war on the visitors, who are yelled and hooted at from the beginning to the end of the game. This state of affairs exists in both sections. A chorus of roasts and yells greets the opposing pitcher, and nothing is left undone in the effort to rattle him. It is often the case that the crowds win the game.

The Westerners will, it is hoped, make a good fight in the East, but it is not to be expected that they will retain their present prominence. They will have to contend with the same disadvantages that their recovery visitors were unable to overcome.

In the days when he made his great baseball reputation Bill Joyce never put up a better game than he has played in the five games against the Pittsburgs. He is still a star of the first magnitude.

The Baltimore American has this to say about Carey, the first baseman who succeeded Dan Brouthers: "He outclasses Dan Brouthers at every point. Had he not been hurt at Cleveland his record would have been even better."

Pears and Lohbeck, the St. Louis battery, were in the points for Detroit against Kansas City Sunday and the Missourians slaughtered them, making fifteen hits and the same number of runs to Detroit's 3.

Von der Ahe is taking matters easy these hot days at Sportman's Park. He cools out underneath the grand stand and is happy at the prospects of Buckenberger bringing home with him a wagon load of coin.

PASTIME ATHLETIC CLUB. House and Grounds Sealed and No One

The directors of the Pastime Athleti Club will meet Tuesday evening and hear the report of the progress of Manager the report of the progress of Manager Stockwell in his efforts to raise the sum necessary to liquidate the indebtedness of the club. Contrary to general opinion Mr. Stockwell is not attempting to obtain pledges of support from old and new members, but is simply trying to collect $4.200. At present the club-house and grounds are sealed. Watchmen have been placed in charge of both, and they have instructions to allow no one in them.

The adjourned meeting of the three organisations will be held Friday, June 14, when the fate of the club will be decided.

Twenty-first Annual Pigeon Shoot Began in Chicago This Morning.
CHICAGO, Rh., June 2.—The twenty-first annual tournament of the Illinois Sportsman's Association began in this city this man's Association began in this city this morning. The tournament has brought together nearly all the best pigeon and target shooters of the State, and in addition to these, notables from other States will attend and participate in the open shoots that succeeds the tournament events. The first event on the programme, which will occupy almost all of the present week, is the contest for the Board of Trade diamond badge, emblematic of the individual championship of Illinois. This trophy is one of the most valuable to marksmen in the world. Besides this there are a number of other prises.

Among the noted crack shooters already here are C. W. Budd of Des Moines, Io.; C. M. Grimm of Clear Lake, Io.; F. S. Parmiee and J. C. Read of Omaha; J. A. R. Elliott of Kansas City, A. G. Courtney of Syracuse, J. H. Keiler and W. Fred Quimby of New York, Relio O. Heikes of Iowa and Richard Merrill of Milwaukee. Others are expected to get in from meetings recently held at Knoxville and Memphis, Tenn., and Urbana, O.

VALKYRIE AND BRITANNIA. Mr. Watson's Comparison of the Cup Challenger With Other Yachts. BOSTON, Mass., June 3.—In a letter from Hugh Houston, dated Lam Lash, Scotland e quotes from the Glasgow Citizen the he quotes from the Glasgow Citizen the following, which, he says, sounds very much as if Watson had written it:

"In comparing the Valkyre with the Britannia, the new Valkyre III. is much larger than the Prince of Wales' yacht or the Alisa.

"Valkyrie III. is longer, while she is also deeper and shallower than the Prince of Wales' yacht."

In regard to depth, the new yacht is deeper in the keel and has about thirty tons more lead than the Britannia or Valkyrie II. There is less depth of hold, thus explaining Mr. Watson's paradoxical hut accurate description.

the walking record between the two cities by cutting off five days from the previous record.

explaining Mr. Watson's paradoxical hut accurate description.

The new yacht will carry 20,000 square feet of canvas, being nearly 3,000 more than the Prince of Wales' yacht and 10,000 more than the American Defender, and designer and builders anticipate that the new challenger will exceed in speed any of the racers hitherto built at Meadowside.

TOO MUCH JOHNSON.

Johnny and Sanger Working Profes-sionalism for Advertising Purposes. If the general public is not getting surfeited with the talk concerning Johnson Sanger, Eck and the rest of that hippodroming bicycle crew, why, some of the Eastern papers are being "worked" for a great amount of free advertising, says the Chicago Dispatch. Every effort is being great amount of free advertising, says the Chicago Dispatch. Every effort is being made to make it appear that Sanger has such great love for Johnny Johnson that to show his sympathy he is just dying to desert the L. A. W. amateur ranks in order to join the professionals and race with his old side partner.

It is wonderful to behold this devotion and spirit of sacrificing self-interests which would cause a rider in good standing to leave the amateur class in which he stands near the head, and from which he is deriving a comfortable income, in order to go into a race with one who may defeat him in their first race.

Sanger is probably not one whit purer as an amateur than was Johnson. Sanger would find it just as difficult to show his prizes as it would have been for Johnson, and if he were cut adrift from the L. A. W. he would be obliged to seek similar means of earning a iving. It seems to be the height of folly, therefore, for Sanger to talk about leaving the league of his own choice, and if it should happen that the L. A. W. racing board really had him under suspicion he would quickly get upon his marrow bones to beg Gideon to "go slow." It's all very well for these fellows to talk about going into real professional racing, but action is quite a different matter.

There is not the slightest danger that Sanger will leave class B to join the outcasts, and whether the L. A. W. can create a class which clearly means professionalism without antagonizing rules governing all other amateur sports is a grave question.

Sporting Notes.

Charles Lapp's birds carried off the honors in the cocking main at Lacon, Ill., Saturday night.

Ed Gorman and Jimmy Webb are to fight twenty-five rounds near Chicago next Thursday.

R. M. Phillips, the old St. Louis wrestler, is now looking for matches in Chicago.

George Wright and Fred Raney were to have fought on an island in the Missouri River near St. Joe Sunday, but the stakeholder skipped and the fight was called off.

PREMIER OF NEWFOUNDLAND. Movement to Have Colonial Secretary

Bond Replace Whiteway.

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, June 3.—Celonial Secretary Bond's success in negotiating a loan has set afoot a scheme to run him for the Premierahlp to replace Sir Wm. Whiteway, who is now old and is regarded as being behind the times. Bond leads the Radical element in the Whiteway party, which outnumbers the others considerably. The movement is being pushed vigorously. Whiteway will receive a Supreme Court Judgeship if a vacancy occurs. If not, he will be relegated to a seat in the Legislative Council. It is believed two-thirds of the Whiteway party will support Mr. Bond.

University of California Will Not Compete With Alleged Professionals.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 3.—The Californias will not compete with the University of Michigan. After the legislation against Leroy and Hall Saturday night, Manager North of the athletic company from the Golden Gate, said that the dual tourney would probably be called off. "I don't know anything as to the merit of the decision, but the fact remains," he said, "that these men have been called professionals by the Western inter-collegiate association and we cannot afford to meet professionals."

Manager North at once negotiated with the managers of the Wisconsin, Iowa University and Illinois teams for the open date of Saturday, June 8. It is announced that a dual competition has been arranged with the University of Illinois and to-morrow the Californians leave for Champaign to put in the week in input training in the University town. According to the agreement between Capt. Clark and Manager North, each team can enter two men in each event. The first place will count five points and the second two points.

MARTI STILL LIVES.

Cuban Advices Say He Was Not Even Wounded.

NEW YORK, June 3.-The Herald to-day says: According to a report received in New York, Jose Marti, the civil leader of the Cuban uprising, is not dead. Benj. Guerra of this city, Treasurer of the Cuban revolutionary party in the United States, has received a message from Gen. Gomez, commander-in-chief of the insurgent forces, saying that Marti still lives, and was not even wounded. The message came through the General's son, who is in Monte Christo. San Domingo. It reads Monte Christo, San Domingo. It reads simply, "Maestro lives." Maestro, the master, is the name by which the Cubans know Marti. This is the first news which the Cubans here have received besides that sent out by the Spanish authorities. This comes from a Cuban source, and is naturally regarded by Cubans as reliable. Mr. Guerra also received a letter from a prominent Cuban in Santiago De Cuba, saying that Gen. Campos had admitted to him that he had no direct proof of Marti's death.

Says He Is Inspecting His Line and Resting. PORTLAND, Ore., June 3.-James T Hill, President of the Great Northern Rail-road, arrived here last evening over the road, arrived here last evening over the Oregon Railway and Navigation Co.'s lines from Spokane, accompanied by his wife and three children and his private secretary. Mr. Hill comes here to meet Jacob H. Schiff, a New York banker and stockholder in the Great Northern, who will arrive to-day from San Francisco. Together they will leave to-night or to-morrow merning for Seattle. Mr. Hill's western trip is taken mostly for rest and to inspect his line. This is at least what he says about it. In an interview he would say nothing further about the Northern Pacific going into his control than that it was being reorganized and would be soon on a sound financial hasis. With the Northern Pacific in good shape financially, he predicts renewed prosperity to the Northwest.

Mr. Hill desied emphatically that he had any intention of gaining control of the Oregon Railway and Navigation Co... "The Oregon Railway and Navigation Co..." the said, "holds the key to the railroad situation as far as it pertains to Portland, and this city will be a great deal better off as long as the road remains independent of any transcontinental line."

The club held a pienic on Memorial Day, and during the evening a meeting was held. The members drew to decide who was to commit suicide before midnight. The drawing was done sliently, and as each member drew a blank he sighed. Smith drewthe fattal silp and at once disappeared while the more fortunate members resumed their jollification. Smith did not return to his home that night and it was thought he had killed himself, but later he made his appearance and was in high spirits. He said he had decided that life was still worth the living. His club associates were disgusted at Smith's weakness and unanimously voted to expel him.

ys the Party Must Not Be Domin and by the State Committee.

Special to The Pest-Dispatch,
LEBANON, Mo., June 2.—Chairman Farris of the Laclede County Democratic Committee said to-day:
"I am disappointed by the action of the State Committee. When Mr. Maffitt yielded to the pressure and called the committee together, I then thought a convention would be called. I am appalled at the boldness with which it defies the Democratic hosts, but would not be surprised if the Demowith which it defies the Democratic hosts, but would not be surprised if the Democrats should annihilate the committee. The call for a convention July 4 will be pushed. I have faith in the honesty and courage of the comon people."

Mr. Farris has mailed the following circular to Chairmen of County Cammittees:

DEAR SIR—The Democratic State Committee at its meeting on the 1st inst., refused to call a State Convention. Only five of said members, as we are informed, voted in favor of such convention, to-wit: Cook, Lozier, Salmon, Sherwood and Connor. This action was in face of the fact that the party throughout the State through conventions, committees and the party press have urged the State Committee to call the convention. We believe the action of the convention. We believe the action of the convention. We believe the action of the convention of that organization to prevent the party in the State from repudiating the gold bug policy of the Carlisle-Sherman-Wall Street syndicate, and affirmatively declaring for the unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, without the ald or consent of any other nation, and that such gold and silver be a legal tender for all debts public and private. Will the Democratic party submit to such domination, and allow itself to be muzzied by its committee? If not, a convention must be held, and, if held, must be called by a higher power than the State Committee. Already the chairmen of thirty-five counties have signed the inclosed call, and I therefore request that you sign the same and return to me, and when the necessary majority is secured the convention will be called. The masses of the party must make its platforms and direct its policy or the party ceases to be Democratic. The committee has made the challenge and we must maintain our independence, or surrender to the Wall street crowd. What will we do?

SPRINGFIELD CONVENTION.

SPRINGFIELD CONVENTION. One Thousand Delegates Favor the 16 to 1 Ratio.

pecial to The Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 3.—Chairman Hinrichsen of the State Democratic Central Committee to-day states that the silver convention to be held here Wednesday will convention to be held here Wednesday will be largely attended by both delegates and citizens from all over this and adjoining States. Every county has held or called conventions, and by to-morrow evening the full quota of 1,076 delegates will have been selected. There are now 1,000 names of delegates sent in who are unanimous for unlimited coinage at 16 to 1. Hinricheen states his belief that out of the 1,076 delegates there will not be eighty who are against it. He also says the convention will adopt a resolution to that effect, and instructions will doubtless be given United States Senator Palmer to cast his vote in the next Congress of the United States for free silver on the above ratio. The chairman does not believe any other question will be canvassed besides that of the currency question and no other work done by the convention. Harmony and unanimity will prevail. The House of Representatives will adjourn over for two days until the convention has met and the hall has been straightened up. An enormous attendance is anticipated.

It is said that at the meeting the Executive Committee of the Democratic State Central Committee held here some weeks ago it was decided to give the chairmanship of the free silver convention to a Southern Illinois man. Congressman George W. Fithian of Newton, Jasper County, will probably be the man. Judge Samuel P. McCennell of Cook County will probably be made chairman of the committee on resolutions.

Besides adopting a platform the principal plank in which will be a declaration

Besides adopting a platform the principal plank in which will be a declaration in favor of free silver coinage, this convention will probably name delegates to the Memphis silver conference, to be held June I. It will also instruct the State Central Committee to confer in some manner with committees from other States with the object of calling a national silver conference, and will appoint delegates to such a conference when called.

THE STATE COMMITTEE.

ing what had happened, and they could draw their inference. Said he: "There were eleven members of the committee who, at the morning session, declared that they would have to carry out the wishes of the Democrats of their district, and vote for a state convention. The four who did not come out were the three St. Louis members and Brown of Saline. Brown frankly said that he believed that three-fourths of his people wanted a convention, but he believed they were mistaken as a matter of party policy."

they were mistaken as a matter of party policy."

"Then you mean to say that eleven members of the committee admitted, at the morning session, that their people wanted them to vote for a state convention?"

"Exactly. And they said they were going to dott. They changed their minds before they came back after upper. Carroll, Thomas, Davis, Zeveley Rozler all stated in the committee transport of the convention. McGowan of Kanzas City admitted that the Fifth district was for free silver. But they all voted against it. I mean to say emphatically that eleven out of fifteen members were for the convention in the morning, and that ten out of fifteen members were against it in the evening."

of fifteen members were against it the evening."
P. B. Balley of Fulton, formérly State Committeeman from Zeveley's district, said that nine out of ten Democrats in Callaway County were for free silver and a State convention. He believed that the committee had declared against the desires of the Democrats of the State. He added that when Zeveley had been elected Committeeman he had pledged himself before the district caucus to stand by free silver, and he would have a hard time explaining his position now.

THE MARKETS.

There is so far no abatement to the drought in the greater portion of this State and in the territory east of the Mississippi River. Light rains are occasionally heard of as failing, but drought conditions are still unbroken. Midsummer heat also prevails and most advices are that crop conditions are growing worse and the situation now is very alarming. A telegram from Lawrenceburg, Ind., says wheat crop good and no hope for it in greater part of the State. Indianapolis wires that it looks like total failure. From fillinois the teports are that both wheat and cats are in about the worst shape possible. Almost similar advices come from different sections of Missouri. In the West, including Kansan and Nebraska, heavy rains have fallen.

profit on she wheat in this market.

The Winnipeg Commercial any reports generally agree that frosts have done very little damage to the wheat crop of Manitoba.

Latest reports from Buda Pesth that crops suffering from drought in Rastein Hungar, and some damage by Hessian fly and other insects, so that a short crop is expected.

Thorman of the Peatric Farmer estimates that present prospects are for a total wheat crop of 448,000,000 hz, provided excellent weather conditions prevail from now on, but should present dry spell continue ten days where half a crop now promised a total failure will fesuit.

ST CHARLES COUNTY, TOO. Secretary Britt Sends Out Letters to Members of the Committee.

tary E. R. Britt of the County Democratic Central Committee and Chairman S. H. Wright held a conference this morning. As a result Secretary Britt to-day sent out personal letters to the members of the county committee asking from them an expression of opinion as to whether they favor a State silver convention and whether they think it necessary that the Central Committee shall meet for the purpose of calling a county silver convention. Several days ago at St. Peters, the eGrman community in this county, a silver meeting was held in which the declarations for silver at 16 to 1 were strong. At this meeting a call was issued upon the county committee to hold a county convention. The action of the State committee in refusing to call a State convention has aroused the silver sentiment. In this town and county to white heat, and the voters must have a chance to declare for Democratic money.

Ambrose Martin's Last Gift to His Wife.

It was nothing—only a few apricots on a common plate—that Ambrose Martin gave his wife one late summer evening, but it was his dearest gift to ber, and to purchase them he went out of their little apartment for the last time. He had been sick for two years—"the happiest years of my life," he often said. In them he had learned to know and love his wife more than ever before. In health and prosperity petities was aware of the depth of the mooth stream of their lives. But when ill-mooth stream of their lives, But when ill-mooth stream of their lives, But when ill-mooth stream of their lives, But when ill-afternoon she opened the door of their rooms.

Hitherto she had found him in his accustomed place, propped upon a lounge, a small table by his side, on which were a few books, a musical score and a photograph of his wife. He had been an organist; music was his passion; in it he lived and found the intellectual and spiritual food of his being. His chief comfort now was in reading music, realizing as far as his enfeebled powers allowed him its tones and its meanings. For a long time past he had heard no music, save the street organs, whose jangled strains too often reminded him of his own broken and miscrable fortune. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon this mood and all other melancholy reflections passed away, and the meeting of the husband and wife was like that of long parted lovers, when joy is mingled with tears, and the remainder of the day they were happy; they forgot their distress and the approaching doom. All the organist's passion for his art, was now concentrated into a sublime fear that at any time she might return and find her husband dead. He was in that critical stage of his disease when this was good for them, but their thoughts and their conversation were turned toward the future, beating when punctually at 4 o'clock in the beating when punctually at 4 o'clock in the afternoon she opened the door of their resources. A few more partings, a few more meetings and the world would be left behind. Until then they solaced each other with those fond attentions which usually accompany the days of courtship. How and what compensations came into their lives a little and served that devoted pair, only those know who love through all suffering and in every misfortune. The least trifles made the day bright; they arranged and rearranged their two rooms, each time with some new device to make them more fresh and attractive, or more comfortable and convenient. There was an air of refinement which lingers long and is latest to be lost in the home of those who have known better days. They made a few flowers bought of the street vender, half alive, live a week by careful nursing; and then the green leaves, if by chance there were any, would be kept fresh even longer. The table was spread as neatity as if they had nothing else to think of. It is true there were no dainties to place upon it, only the simplest fare, care and economy could plan and se-

SHOT BY A WATCHMAN.

Edward Lorenz Killed in the Missouri Pacific Yards.

The inquest over the body of Edward orenz was begun by Coroner Atkinson onday afternoon.

Monday afternoon.

The victim was shot and instantly killed by J. H. Ketchum, watchman for the Missouri Pacific Railroad, in the company's yard at Compton avenue. Loorenz was killed at 5 o'clock Sunday evening and his body allowed to lie in the hot sun over an hour before its removal to the Morgue.

Eye-witnesses differ as to the exact manner of the killing. Ketchum claims to have shot in self-defense. His story is that while making his rounds he saw Lorenz and several others sitting on the steps of a Pullman car. He ordered them to vacate, and all obeyed save Lorenz, who refused to move.

He then got on the platform to put the trespasser off and the latter reached for his hip pocket. Supposing Lorenz had a pistol, Ketchum says he grappled with him. Lorenz took his club away from him and threw him from the car on his back. Lorenz then jumped to the ground and was going to strike the prostrate watchman when the latter drew his gun and fired.

He missed his mark the first time and Lorenz sought shelter behind a telegraph pole. From this point of vantage Lorenz threw stones at Ketchum, one of which struck him over the left eye, cutting a gash. Ketchum fired a second shot, which struck him over the left per, cutting a gash. Alexander Garesche Has Been Paying Tribute for Two Years.

HAS CRAWFORD ARRESTED.

Says Crawford Has an Arrangement With the City Treasury for Collecting the Pay of City Employes.

A warrant charging Channey C. Craw-ford, the money lender, 6 North Eighth street, with embezzlement was sworn out Monday by Alexander Garesche, brother of ney. Until last Friday Mr. Garesche was clerk in the office of the Commissioner of Supplies, and in explaining his charge against Crawford, made the statement that the City Treasury Department is a party to extortion practiced by money lenders in that they refuse to pay salaries to borrowers without the lender's permission. This is denied by the officials of the Treasury Department.

Mr. Garesche called at the office of Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson at 10 o'clock with Thomas B. Estep, his at 10 o'clock with Thomas B. E ment to a Post-Dispatch reporter immediately after swearing to the above information:

"Two years ago I became pressed for money and borrowed $100 from Mr. Crawford. I gave him my notes and my power of attorney to collect out of my salary from the City Treasury. The power of attorney was the security for the loan, and the arrangement made at the City Treasury was the same as that made by every other borrower in the city's employ.

"Since then, for the last two years, Crawford has been drawing $10 a month of my salary as interest on the $100 loan, besides various amounts at divers times to apply on the principal. At one time I had the amount down to $50, then I borrowed $25, my interest then being $7.50 a month, and afterwards the principal got back to $86 because I borrowed more.

"Last Friday I lost my position, and went to Crawford to see if I could make some arrangement, as I needed all of my salary this month. He offered to loan me more money, but I didn't want that. Then we agreed that I was to give him ten notes $10 each, one falling due at the last of each month. I had signed two of these notes, when he sald:

"What's the use of going to all that month. I had signed two of these notes, when he said:

"What's the use of going to all that trouble? You go up and sign the pay roll, and then you and I will get the money and you can pay me $10 or so."

"I asked Mr. Fishback at the treasury if he would let me sign the pay roll, and if he would pay Mr. Crawford my salary, and he said yes. When I returned to Crawford's office and asked him to go to the treasury he said he did not have time, and told me to come again.

"Later I went to his house, 10 North Eighth street. His wife said he wasn't in, but had left an envelope for me. It contained $5 and my notes. I threw them on the floor in the hall and told Mrs. Crawford to tell her husband that I wouldn't accept it.

"There is an arrangement at the City Treasury whereby no city employe, who borrows money from Crawford can draw his salary without Crawford can draw his salary without Crawford being present at the time or some assurance being given by the latter that it is all right. Crawford, when seen at his office, stated that he had taken nothing but his own, and denie. I having any arrangement with the Treasury Department.

"My security in these cases," said he. "is my power of attorney from the borrowers. I suppose they can go and get their money without my knowing it, as I have no arrangement at the City Treasury to prevent it, except to notify the authorities not to pay the money and then file bond at the Treasury for the amount and cost of possible litigation.

They stated that about 11 o'clock Sunday had fallen into the water. They did not investigate, and in fact, they thought nothing more of the matter until they discovered the hat and revolver the next morning. An examination of the hat by the police resulted in finding a piece of paper attached to the inside band on which the address 2294 Benton street, was written.

It was found that Peter Jung and his family lived at the above number, but they were not at home, having gone to Belleville, Ill. It was learned by telegraph a little later that Andreas Jung, a saloonkeeper of Belleville, was missing. His brother, Peter, who was in Belleville, was notified of the finding of the revolver and hat with the address attached and requested to return at once to St. Louis. On his arrival at the Four Courts he positively identified the hat as that of his brother. The revolver was also identified as one which his brother had borrowed a few days before from a friend in Belleville named Shoemaker Weisenburn. Jung at once jumped to the conclusion that his brother had a fine gold watch and always carried a large amount of money and that he bad undoubtedly been murdered with robbery as the motive.

It was learned that the missing man was a hard drinker, frequently going on protracted sprees. All lists week he had been drinking heavily and in consequence had for the last three or four days been moody and despondent. His queer actions had caused his wite not a little alarm.

Saturday morning he told her he was going to St. Louis, and although she tried to dissuade him he started. Instead of taking the train he set out on foot and late in the afternoon arrived in East St. Louis.

About 6 o'clock p. m. he visited the saloon of his cousin, Joe Weixle, at Main street and Lucas avenue. He appeared to be greatly excited, taking wildly and displaying the revolver. After staying there for about an hour he started out to visit his brother. Peter, and Mr. Weixle visited the stame for he last time he was not seen again by any of his friends or relatives.

He went away happy in the belief that such things were so when Famous undertook to do it.

Quite a number of applicants had to be refused the much-sought bargain for the reason that they did not have the required exact change with them. One applicant presented a dollar and asked for the 10 cents which he was entitled to, but the cashier replied the money was at a discount, not at a premium. He endeavored to argue the point, but was finally induced to get out of the way and the next that was seen of him was when he was in line again within 100 feet of the window. He spent over half an hour and finally found himself in front of the cashier again, when he presented 90 cents and received a bright silver dollar in exchange.
